

DISPUTE OVER GEORGIA ROAD FUND SETTLED AS ROOSEVELT RELEASES MONEY

Hopson Confesses Effort To Influence Press on Utilities

Released by House 'Bodyguard,' Power Official Put on Senate Grill; Admits 'Threatening' New York Times for Stand.

WOULD ADVERTISE WITH HEARST CHAIN

House Agrees To Release Associated Executive to Rival Investigators After Heated Clashes.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Stepping unexpectedly onto the senate lobby committee's witness stand, Howard C. Hopson today described efforts to change the editorial policies of newspapers favoring the public utility bill.

The millionaire dictator of the Associated Gas & Electric system, whose round person has been the object of a suddenly stifled senate-house dispute, and who has been cited for contempt by the senate, strode grimly into the committee room after 5 o'clock this afternoon. He had just been released by his house committee "bodyguards."

Pressed N. Y. Times.

So quickly was the committee called to hear him that only a group of newspapermen formed the immediate audience.

Under questioning Hopson testified representatives were sent to the New York Times after an editorial which he considered unfair.

"I told our people the New York Times and their editorial policies did no harm to our advertising do not," he said in response to questioning by Chairman Black, democrat, Alabama.

"I saw no advantage in advertising in a paper that accepted the money of a business corporation that was trying to protect its investors and then had editorial writers that had so little knowledge of the situation about which they were writing."

Backed Hearst Chain.

"The long and short of it is that you tried to see about stopping the ads or changing their editorial policy," Black persisted.

"I told them to see the people of the New York Times, and try and explain our problem."

Black brought out Hopson had suggested advertising in the Hearst papers be increased because they opposed the utilities bill.

Hopson also made suggestions, he conceded after questioning, that efforts be made to have papers "switch over," including those of the Scripps-Howard chain.

Hopson's long involved answers finally had Black interrupting temporarily.

"Answer the questions," he snapped. "I want it distinctly understood that questions will be asked and answers given. We'll have no speeches and no arguments here."

May Drop Charge.

Committee members expressed an evident disposition to drop the contempt proceedings against Hopson, once they finally had him on their feet.

Two New Dealers Involved in Probe

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP)—A special dispatch from Washington to the New York Post today said "two high administration officials" were involved in the congressional utility lobby investigation.

The Post's correspondent said they were Marvin McIntyre, White House secretary, and L. W. Robert, assistant secretary of the treasury.

The Post's dispatch declared they were revealed "as having spent some time last night in the room of B. B. Robinson, Washington agent of H. C. Hopson, head of the Associated Gas & Electric Company."

The presence of the two administration officials, the Post said, was inadvertently revealed today when Chesley Jurney, senate sergeant-at-arms, seeking to serve the senate contempt citation on Hopson, called on Robinson to inquire if he knew of the magazine's whereabouts.

Jurney, the Post said, knocked on the door and Robinson stepped outside, and when he saw Jurney, hastily closed the door. He said he did not know where Hopson was and returned to his room. After a while the door reopened and McIntyre and Robert came out.

McIntyre ADMITS DINNER WITH AGENT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—When his attention was called to a story published in New York, saying he had been in company last night with B. B. Robinson, Washington representative of the Associated Gas & Electric Company, Secretary Marvin H. McIntyre made the following statement:

"I was invited to dinner last night by 'Chip' Robert in company with Amos Carter. Before dinner on the subject of the utilities bill, he also was a guest at our dinner table."

Carter is publisher of the Fort Worth, Texas, Star-Telegram.

Police Committee Defers Action Pending Inquiry Into Brewer Shooting.

Scheduled trial of City Policeman C. W. Mauldin on charges of shooting another and being intoxicated was deferred last night by council police committee to await investigation of the affair today by the Fulton county grand jury.

Nearly a dozen witnesses have been summoned to appear before the inquest today as it delves into incidents leading up to the shooting of L. C. Brewer in a Fair street restaurant several days ago.

When committee members learned of the impending investigation by the grand jury, they decided to defer the trial.

U. S. CONSIDERING 17 MILLION OUTLAY FOR GEORGIA RIVER

Vast Power, Navigation Project Near Augusta Gains Support From F. D. R.; Approval Seen.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—President Roosevelt today assured a Georgia congressional delegation he would shortly name a commission of three to investigate and report upon the proposed $17,500,000 Clark Hill power project located on the Savannah river some 20 miles north of Augusta.

Senators Walter F. George and Richard B. Russell Jr., and Representative Paul Brown, of Elberton, called at the White House to request the chief executive to use his good offices in initiating a comprehensive survey of the project in the interest of navigation and flood control as well as power development.

Russell said "We hope to make this project a small edition of TVA."

Russell said the project would generate power, assure a dependable navigation channel in the river by regulating water flow, and prevent floods which periodically harass Augusta.

Immediately following the conference Representative Brown said the President undoubtedly would name an army engineer, a Federal Power Commission representative and an engineer from the Public Works Administration as members of the survey commission.

"The spending of $17,500,000 in the vicinity of Augusta will be a tremendous boon to the Georgia congressional district and I am confident government engineers will find the project worthy of federal development."

Millie Owen, editor of the Augusta Chronicle, and Ernest Moody, secretary of the Augusta Chamber of Commerce, who are in Washington, working for the project, were highly pleased with assurances given by Mr. Roosevelt.

The presidential commissioner will ascertain whether the project is feasible. Other engineers have reported it to be essential for the preservation of water in the Savannah river that would insure a uniform six-foot level.

As the chairman announced that the project, has agreed to sell or lease its rights to the government and to the state.

STATE TO AWARD ROAD JOBS TODAY

$1,500,000 in Contracts To Be Let, Including Much Important Paving Work.

Lacking official information from Washington regarding terms of release of the state's $19,000,000 federal highway fund, the State Highway Board yesterday completed arrangements for a $1,500,000 contract letting today and announced it was ready to submit at an early date to the state's federal highway fund.

Some of the most important projects in the section of the state, the North Side drive underpass.

Chairman W. E. Wilburn said federal and state bids would be submitted by contractors today and if the government did not accept the federal proposals the state would accept those offered it and let the contracts.

As the chairman announced that the state's federal highway fund, on plans for the underpass had been completed and would be submitted to J. T. Marshall, the federal district highway engineer as soon as Fulton county finished title to needed right-of-way, Acting County Attorney Ralph Pharr announced that the right-of-way matter was in his hands and he expected to have the necessary titles within a few days.

"We believe a happy solution will be worked out on the right-of-way problem," Mr. Pharr said. "The matter has been turned over to me by the county engineer's office and I expect to furnish the highway board with the title in a few days."

Totalling will be one of the largest of the year. Approximately $700,000 worth of the $1,500,000 in projects is in the sixth congressional district, represented by Carl Vinson, of Milledgeville, whose insistence on the construction of the Ball's Ferry bridge resulted in the long tie-up of the state's federal highway fund.

Important among the projects in Vinson's district on which bids will be received today is the completion of the paving of the Wrightsville-Dublin route in Laurens county, the paving of 12 miles in Twiggs county, which will complete the Macon-Dublin-Savannah highway and the paving of 20 miles in Bleckley county on what is known as the Cochran short route from Macon to leading cities of southeast Georgia.

A number of other important paving, grading and bridge projects in widely scattered sections of the state also are before contractors for proposals to be submitted today.

Chairman Wilburn said a large number of other important paving, grading and bridge projects in widely scattered sections of the state also are before contractors for proposals to be submitted today.

Moscow Tells U. S. Reds To Support Roosevelt

MOSCOW, Aug. 15.—(UP)—President Roosevelt and his New Deal regime were hailed as "bulwarks against fascism," by red leaders addressing the seventh world congress of the communist (third) international tonight.

George Dimitroff, Bulgarian communist active in Germany before the famous reichstag fire trial, suggested the American reds should support Mr. Roosevelt.

"Some communist groups consider Mr. Roosevelt as a leader among fascists," Dimitroff said. "But it must be pointed out that he is opposed now by the financial circles which are the most substantial supporters of the trend to the right."

Earl Browder, secretary of the American communist party, told the congress the major problem of the communist party in the United States is to create a united trades union movement with the support of organized labor.

He stressed the importance of solidarity among all supporters of socialist principles.

ATLANTA KILLED IN AIRPLANE CRASH

James W. Thompson Among Four Victims of Smash-Up in Texas.

GILMER, Texas, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Two pilots and two passengers crashed to flaming deaths in a cotton field 12 miles west of here early today after the left engine of a tri-motored Delta Air Lines plane tore loose and fell.

Early investigation disclosed the plane had only two motors when it crashed. The missing motor had not been found at midmorning.

Trapped and subsequently burned beyond recognition were:

Andy Dixon, of Monroe, La., pilot. Herbert Bulkeley, Dallas, co-pilot. J. W. Thompson, Atlanta, passenger. P. A. Ivy, Birmingham, Ala., passenger.

The plane was demolished.

Officials Go to Scene.

Delta officials, Charles A. Rowe, superintendent of the United States Department of Commerce in Dallas, and Alva Sole, superintendent of air mails at Fort Worth, went to the scene of the crash, 12 miles west of Gilmer, to investigate.

The bodies, burned beyond recognition, were pulled from the ship by Guy Weldon and Herbert McWhorter, farmers who heard the plane circle over McWhorter's cotton field shortly before the smashup.

Weldon said he heard the roar of the motor and looked up to see the plane drop several feet. It circled over the level cotton patch as it landed, and then crashed at about a 20-degree angle with a loud explosion.

Kept Away by Fire.

Weldon and McWhorter raced to the scene, but were unable to approach the blazing ship. The two farmers attempted to kill the fire with sand, but were forced to wait until the flames had subsided sufficiently to allow them to pull the charred bodies from the wreckage.

Some mail from the passenger-mail plane, which left Dallas last night for Atlanta, was retrieved before being burned, but much of the cargo was lost.

Gilmer is in east Texas, about 20 miles northeast of Longview, and near the Louisiana border.

It is a region of flat land, densely wooded in spots, and only a short distance from the 15,000 derricks of the east Texas oil field.

James William Thompson, 23, a native of Sylvania, Ga., had lived in Atlanta for the last eight months with his aunt, Annie J. Parker, of 135 Eleventh street. His mother, Mrs. Floy Thompson, and two sisters, continued in Page 6, Column 4.

2 Would-Be Tarzans Flee Woods After Eight Days of Hunger, Cold

TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Two young men, nearly naked, ravenously hungry and on the verge of exhaustion staggered back into civilization here and admitted they couldn't live 30 days in the wilds solely by their own resourcefulness.

Having attempted the jungle life only eight days, they lost by a wide margin their wager with William Rast, a druggist—a bet of $200 cash against 100 days' work.

Instead of collecting the $200, the boys, Tom Vitor, 23, and Graham Ring, 19, will pile 15 tons of brick for Rast as their first payless job.

In trunks and gym shoes and still clutching their meager equipment consisting of a fishing line, two knives and a cigar lighter, they emerged from the Olympic forest and attacked a large dinner.

Then they wrote their story of days of unappetizing hunger and nights of bone-chilling cold, which was copyrighted and published by the Tacoma News-Tribune.

"The first night out," they wrote, continued in Page 11, Column 7.

SENATE APPROVES WEALTH TAX BILL BY 57 TO 22 VOTE

Amendment to Measure Prohibits Future Issue of Federal Tax-Exempt Securities By Treasury.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—The administration "wealth tax" bill whipped through the senate today on a 57-to-22 ballot. The action stirred prospects of adjournment before next week is out.

Only two days of debate preceded the vote to take an estimated $250,000,000 from million-dollar incomes, large corporations, estates and gifts.

Senator La Follette's two efforts to boost taxes on small incomes were crushed by 3-to-1 majorities.

Tax-Exempt Bonds Banned.

But the bill returned to the house with an amendment quickly interpreted in administration quarters as threatening a serious handicap to President Roosevelt's financial program.

Adopted, 40 to 30, on the motion of Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, this amendment would prohibit future issues of tax-exempt federal securities. Treasury officials said immediately that, if accepted by the house, the amendment would place the government at a disadvantage, since states and municipalities would continue to enjoy the tax-free privilege on their securities.

Aside from handicapping a heavy borrowing program ahead to finance the $4,000,000,000 work-relief program, officials said the Borah amendment would increase the cost of all money obtained by the government.

President Roosevelt had recommended a constitutional amendment to permit taxing all governmental securities, federal, state and local.

Except for the Borah amendment and a sister amendment by McCarran, democrat, Nevada, the tax bill went through virtually as written by the senate finance committee.

George a Conferee.

Further evidencing a desire for speedy adjournment, the senate immediately appointed conferees to join with house managers in adjusting differences between the two bodies. They were Chairman Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, of the finance committee, and Senators King, democrat, Utah; George, democrat, Georgia; La Follette, progressive, Wisconsin, and McCall, republican, Rhode Island. House leaders planned to send the bill to conference tomorrow.

Senator Thomas, democrat, Oklahoma, just before the final vote, forced democratic leaders to affirm formally their previous informal promise that a bonus legislation would be given a preferred status early next January.

The senate measure differs materially with that approved by the house, although both would raise about the same amount of new revenue.

Differences.

Principal differences: The senate substituted higher estate and gift taxes as a donor for the new inheritance taxes and levies on recipients of gifts approved by the house and proposed by the President.

The senate also raised the surtax rates on individual net incomes over $1,000,000, whereas the house started the increases on incomes over $500,000.

The senate measure boosted the house graduated corporation income taxes to bring in about four times as much new revenue; reduced the excess profits rates to produce only about one-tenth of that under the house measure, raised existing capital stock taxes and levied a new tax on intercorporate dividends. The house bill makes no mention of the latter two taxes.

McCarran's sister amendment, accepted without debate, would repeal the three sections of the silver purchase act providing for nationalization of silver, a tax of 50 per cent on silver trading profits and licensing of imports and exports.

Senator George Proposal For Ending Controversy Will Free $19,000,000

Principals in Long-Drawn-Out Highway Row

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

GOVERNOR TALMADGE.

SENATOR GEORGE.

THOMAS H. MACDONALD.

Minor Conditions Attached to Release Believed Satisfactory to Talmadge, Who Is Awaiting Arrival of Letter Here.

NO MENTION MADE OF BALL'S FERRY

Individual Project Differences To Be Adjusted Later and State Board to Increase Technical Staff.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Accepting the George proposal for ending the Georgia highway controversy, President Roosevelt today directed Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the United States Bureau of Public Roads, to write a letter to the State Highway Board announcing that federal funds allotted the state are now available for immediate use, subject to minor conditions which it is assumed here will be entirely satisfactory to Governor Talmadge.

In Atlanta Governor Talmadge would not comment on the President's order except to say he would not "make a statement until I see the letter from Washington."

Summoning Mr. MacDonald to the White House this morning for a conference on the long-drawn-out dispute the President is reported to have ordered the $19,000,000 of highway funds involved released on the following basis, suggested earlier by Senator Walter F. George, senior Georgia member in the upper house:

To Enlarge Staff.

The State Highway Board to enlarge its engineering staff and inspection staff to a point necessary to handle the greatly increased expenditures.

All minor details of administration over which there may be disagreement, included disputed individual projects, to be made the subject of later negotiations between the State Board and the Federal Roads Bureau—without interfering, however, with the main $19,000,000 program.

Governor Talmadge has already given assurance of his willingness to increase the state board's engineering staff, pointing out that additional personnel would be necessary under the enlarged program and Georgia delegation members here were unable to see where he can raise objection to the second phase of the President's proposition.

George Proposal.

In an effort to break the highway fund impasse Senator George recently urged the President and Mr. MacDonald release immediately all but some $300,000 of the $19,000,000 fund, with this sum held in abeyance for building the controversial Ball's Ferry bridge project after later negotiations with the state board.

This in effect is what the President has ordered done without mentioning Ball's Ferry, according to word brought from the White House today by three members of the Georgia delegation.

Senator George, Senator Richard B. Russell Jr. and Representative Paul Brown went to the White House during the day to discuss the Augusta reservoir project with the chief executive.

FARMERS ATTACK MARSHAL AT SALE ADAMS POSTPONES MEETING OF BOARD

Missouri Mob Assaults Federal Officers and 3 Aids at Foreclosure.

Illness of Commissioner Johnson Delays Action On County Investigation

PLATTSBURG, Mo., Aug. 15.—(AP)—One thousand irate farmers, uttering threats, tearing clothes and swinging fists, surrounded United States Marshal Henry Dillingham and three aids today on the courthouse lawn and forcibly prevented the foreclosure sale of a farm.

"It was awful," Dillingham said later in describing how the farmers surprised him and kept him prisoner from 1:30 to 5 p. m. "They were in an ugly mood."

The crowd tore the trousers of George Colburn, a federal court bailiff, snatched his pistol from him and beat him with fists.

The sudden farmers also grabbed the pistol of E. E. Fisher, another bailiff. They jostled Robert Pulliam, a deputy who drove the automobile which carried the four from Kansas City to Plattsburg.

Some of the throng cut a tire on the car, let out the air and removed the carburetor, Dillingham said.

"They belonged to some sort of a farmers' union which is planning to do the same thing at foreclosure sales throughout this section," he said.

"They made plans to be at Maryville, Mo., to stop a sale there tomorrow."

The farmers told me I was just doing the bidding of a republican federal judge, Merrill E. Otis. They said they'd like to see the United States supreme court for ruling out the Fraxier-Lempe act. They told me Governor Guy B. Park, of Missouri, had issued a moratorium for everyone except the farmers."

MARSHAL SAYS MOB LED BY COMMUNISTS

PLATTSBURG, Mo., Aug. 15.—(UP)—United States Marshal Henry B. Dillingham, who was beaten by a mob at a farm foreclosure sale at Plattsburg, tonight said the rioters were led and trained by communists.

"The leaders of the mob were radicals of the worst sort. Many of the followers were drunk," he said.

The marshal revealed he went to Plattsburg despite a doctor's order warning him against excitement because of heart disease.

"I must be all cured up of the heart trouble now," Dillingham said.

HIGHEST AWARDS WON BY PHILLIPS COMPANY

American Made Canned Foods Carry Off Honors
At London Exhibition.

CAMBRIDGE, Md., Aug. 15.—American-made canned food products again have demonstrated their world-wide supremacy at the General Trades International Exhibition in London, England, where official announcement has been made that the diploma of grand prize and gold medal have been awarded to the Phillips Packing Co., Inc., of Cambridge, Md.

Colonel Albanus Phillips, president of the company which produces and markets nearly 50 Phillips delicious soups, vegetables, beans, spaghetti, to-matos, juice and a variety of meat products, has received official advice that the entire line has won both awards for highest quality, purity and flavor. Products from 20 nations of the world were tested and tasted by international food juries representing England, Ireland, France, Italy and the United States.

The dual award was announced by directors of the General Trades International Exhibition at Boleyn Castle, Green street, London, through their United States agents, the Arthur Crosby Service, Inc., of New York city, following nearly three months' scientific inspection of thousands of exhibits by food specialists, dietitians and experts in research, sanitation and nutrition.

Last March the American representatives of the British exposition extended an invitation to the Phillips Packing Company to enter their products in the world-wide competition. The various food commodities were assembled from regular warehouse stocks and shipped to England, where they were subsequently displayed in the town hall buildings, London.

After subjecting the thousands of exhibits from many lands to exhaustive purity, quality and flavor tests, members of the international jury held their final meeting and announced the award of the diploma of grand prize and gold medal to the Phillips Packing Company for their entire line of canned food products, marketed under the brand name of "Phillips' Delicious."

next winter to bring delight to her family and guests. The woman who preserves the plenty of today against the scarcity of next winter wants more than anything else to insure the success of her work. M. d. n. jelly and preserve insurance may best be obtained by using pure cane sugar in the selection of fruits and sugar. The fruits should be just, and not too ripe, and the sugar should be dependable pure cane sugar. Act now, while fruits are at their prime. Put up a generous supply to add summer's cheer to winter's monotony. And above all, play safe, always ask for pure cane sugar.

PATY GOING TO PARLEY ON STUDENT FINANCES
Boys and girls of high school age in Georgia will learn next week what the federal government will do to help them finance their way through school. Dean Raymond R. Paty, state director of the National Youth Administration, will leave Sunday for a two-day conference in Washington of state directors of the nation. Thousands of applications have been received at the Atlanta office, since Dean Paty was appointed to head the new movement that congress has authorized to help high school students finance themselves. School superintendents throughout the state have asked for information. Dean Paty said, and this will be given in detail when he returns from the Washington meeting. The federal aid is limited to students whose parents are on relief rolls.

A HANDFUL OF TREATS FOR A HANDFUL OF GUESTS

by THE FLAVOR TWINS

Unexpected guests! What shall we do? Here's a quick cracker spread: Cream cheese, chopped olives or onion juice and Durkee's Dressing. You'll get compliments because the dressing lends an interesting and unusual TANG.

And here's another quick one: Crab-meat or tuna fish and bits of red pimento, mixed with Durkee's Dressing—spread on salted crackers. All the true flavors are coated out. And what a taste treat the dressing gives with its peppy ZEST. The flavor twins—Zest and Tang—as interpreted by Durkee have never been successfully copied. A secret 75-year-old flavor-formula is the answer.

THREE MEALS A DAY

HOME TESTED RECIPES

Sally Saver

Sandwiches fit perfectly into the tempo of summer life. Cooking that requires an effort is beyond us. Such times are ideal for sandwiches. Simple sandwiches require little time or effort—they also permit a wide range of fancy and creation. With a little skillful planning and ingenuity, delightful new sandwich fillings can be conjured up which combine tidbits from the refrigerator. With a hearty salad, a cool drink and a chilled dessert, sandwiches make the backbone of a luncheon or supper menu that will delight a family eager for light meals on hot summer days. Sandwiches such as those suggested below serve many purposes in the warm weather schedule of meal planning.

Grilled "P.B.C." Sandwich—Use three slices of bacon for each sandwich. Toast slices of bread on one side only, having one for each sandwich. Spread untoasted side with peanut butter, then with chili sauce. Top with slices of bacon, the edges of which have been notched with a knife to prevent curling. Broil slowly until the bacon is slightly browned and crisp. Serve immediately with slices of sweet pickles.

Supper Sandwich—Flake 1 small can tuna fish. Mix with half as much sandwich spread and 2 tablespoons minced onion. Spread 1/4 inch slices of bread with prepared brown mustard and then half of slices with tuna fish mixture. Top with second slices of bread. Press firmly together. Dip into slightly beaten egg to which 1/2 cup milk and 1-4 teaspoon salt have been added. Sauté in hot fat until brown on both sides. Serve hot with small leaves of lettuce filled with India relish.

Open Salad Sandwich—Have two large slices white bread, from which the crusts have been removed, for each person to be served. Spread with mayonnaise and place side by side on plate. On one slice place slice of tomato, and on tomato top three slices of hard cooked egg. On the other slice of bread place a small cup shaped leaf of lettuce, containing small serving of meat or fish salad, garnishing with paprika. Serve with fresh cucumber pickles.

Grilled Ham, Cheese and Tomato Sandwich—Toast 6 slices of bread on one side. On untoasted side place slice of ham (less than 1-4 inch thick) and spread with prepared brown mustard. Cover with a thin slice of American cheese and spread with prepared brown mustard. Top each with a slice of tomato. Grill under broiler until cheese melts and tomato slices are brown. Serve with lettuce cups containing sweet gherkins.

Snappy Sandwich—Cream together 3 tablespoons butter and 1-2 cup grated cheese. Add 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon tarragon vinegar, 2 teaspoons anchovy paste, 2 tablespoons chopped stuffed Spanish olives and 1-8 teaspoon paprika. Cut bread in thin slices and remove crusts. Butter slices and put together with cheese mixture. Cut in halves or fancy shapes. Serve with plain green salad, molded chicken salad, crab-meat salad or stuffed tomato salad.

India Relish Sandwich—Combine 1 cup chopped cooked ham, 1 chopped hard cooked egg, 3 tablespoons India relish and 1 tablespoon chopped stuffed Spanish olives. Moisten with 2 tablespoons mayonnaise. Cut bread in thin slices and remove crusts. Butter slices and spread with ham mixture. Cut in halves or fancy shapes. Serve with vegetable salads, such as lima bean salad, macedoine salad, onion salad or potato salad.

Sardine Sandwich—Remove skins from sardines and mash to a paste with a little salad cream. Add twice as much sandwich spread as sardine paste. Mix well and spread between buttered slices of whole wheat or white bread. Put a leaf of lettuce on top of sardine mixture of each sandwich before putting slices together.

Salted Bean Sandwich—Put 2 cups oven baked beans (with pork and tomato sauce) through sieve or mash beans with fork. Add 1-2 teaspoon salt, 4 chopped sweet gherkins, 8 chopped stuffed Spanish olives, and enough mayonnaise to make a smooth filling. Spread between buttered slices of Boston brown or whole wheat bread.

As I have had numerous requests for good punch recipes, I am giving two below:

Fruit Punch for a Crowd. (Makes about 4 gallons—60 large glasses, 120 small.) Two quarts tea infusion (8 cups boiling water poured over 5 tablespoons tea), 2 quarts sugar, 1 quart lemon juice, 1 quart orange juice, 1 quart grape juice, 1 quart cherry juice (or grated pineapple), 2 1/2 gallons iced water, 3 cups orange slices (halves, quartered or fancy shapes). Dissolve sugar in tea. Cool. Combine ingredients. Less water may be used and punch poured over block of ice in punch bowl. Half or quarter recipe to serve a smaller group.

Party Punch. Four cups sugar, 8 cups water, juice of 12 lemons, 4 cups pineapple juice, 2 cups canned crushed pineapple, orange and lemon slices, 4 pints carbonated water or ginger ale, 24 maraschino cherries, quartered.

Boil sugar and water together 10 minutes. Cool. Add fruit juices and crushed pineapple. Chill. Just before serving, add cherries, fruit slices, and carbonated water. Pour immediately over ice in punch bowl. This may be served in large punch bowl with a block (2 quarts) of orange ice.

'BOSS TOM' FIGHT SET FOR MISSOURI

Youth Organization To Form Anti-Pendergast Clubs Over State.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 15.—(AP)—A dapper, wavy-haired young man announced plans tonight to rally the youth of Missouri for a fight on one of the nation's most powerful political bosses.

The way to beat Tom Pendergast's political machine in Kansas City is to elect a governor of Missouri who will guarantee honest elections here—and Missouri elects next year," said Joseph C. Fennelly, sales manager for a paint company.

So Fennelly, president of the National Youth Movement organization, is going to form clubs "in every city of the state." At present the NYM is confined to Kansas City. It won two of the city's eight council seats at a 1934 election marred by five slayings.

JUDGE WINS MISTRIAL

IN 'FINE RACKET' CASE

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 15.—(AP)—A mistrial was ordered today in the trial of City Judge Lewis T. Fitzhugh and three co-defendants on charges that they participated in the theft of $32,000 in remitted city court fines. The jury stood 9 to 3 for acquittal.

WOMEN NOT WANTED

IN AUTO THEFT PROBE

Louisville Suspects Not Linked to Operations of Ring, Official States.

Two women arrested yesterday in Louisville after Atlanta authorities investigating an auto theft ring had requested their detention if they were found to be in possession of an automobile, are not wanted here, Oscar H. Pendley, secretary of the department said yesterday.

Meanwhile, in Miami, officials there continued their investigation of the activities of Cecil Long, 29, who was arrested there Tuesday as officers uncovered the existence of the ring, which is alleged to have used fake ills of sale in obtaining Florida ownership certificates for automobiles after they had been stolen in Atlanta. The women are being detained in Louisville by police there on charges of violation of Louisville regulations, Pendley said after a telephone conversation with authorities in the Kentucky city. When arrested there they had no automobile in their possession.

The names of the women are given as Lou Belle and Gladys Boudett, said to be acquaintances of the two men held in connection with the widespread operations of the alleged theft gang, ramifications of which extend now in many states as the probe widens.

Authorities in Bartow, Fla., entered the case yesterday by requesting fingerprints and photographs of Arthur Guest, arrested here Tuesday morning by Detectives A. B. McNaughton and G. F. Barrett, whose investigations of automobile thefts led to smashing of the ring's activities. Bartow police indicated they suspected Guest of participation in the recent robbery of a bank in Mulberry, Fla.

ATLANTAN ARRESTED FOR $150,000 FRAUDS

Leonard Weisman Faces New York Charges in U. S. and City Courts.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Allegations charging swindles totaling $150,000 were made today against a man known as Leonard Weisman, 38, of Atlanta, Ga.

In one, he was released under $15,000 bail in federal court on the charge of using the mails to defraud Robert Lewis, of Rochester, N. Y., in an allegedly agreed purchase of $900,000 of properties of the National Gas Utilities Company at Barnesville, Ohio.

The second charge was preferred as he was arrested by city detectives upon his release in federal court. The complaint was made by Leon D. Rothschild, of Ithaca, N. Y., who said he put up $50,000 as evidence of "good faith" in a supposedly agreed purchase of Rothschild's department store in Ithaca.

Detective Georgia McNulty quoted Weisman as saying the transaction was "purely a business matter."

NOT LOCATED HERE. Efforts in Atlanta to trace the identity of Weisman last night were unsuccessful. Authorities had no record of him and his name is not listed in the city directory.

ALBANIAN GENERAL VICTIM OF ASSASSIN

LONDON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Reuters (British) News Agency reported from Tirana, Albania, today that General Leon de Gharaldi, inspector of the Albanian army, had been assassinated. The killing was reported to have taken place as the general traveled near the town of Fieri.

Reuters said the general's chauffeur also was killed and that the government, taking rapid measures, had suppressed ensuing disturbances and arrested riot leaders.

ITALY DEMANDS RIGHT TO OCCUPY ETHIOPIA

Delegate to Tri-Power Parley Lists Point as Basis of Conversations.

PARIS, Aug. 15. — (AP) — Baron Pompeo Aloisi, head of the Italian delegation to the tri-power conference opening tomorrow, informed the British representative, Anthony Eden, tonight that Italy's minimum demand for peaceful settlement of her dispute with Ethiopia was occupation of Ethiopia by the Italian army.

Eden and Aloisi got together tonight for the first time. The Italian conferred with Eden at the British embassy after Eden had left Laval.

After one talk, Eden returned again to the Quai d'Orsay late in the afternoon and asserted Britain is only prepared to consent to Italy's economic penetration of the African empire—not to a political penetration.

Eden's aid earlier had told Premier Laval why his chief is preparing for war. Eden explained why England considers war would be a world disaster that must be prevented.

The three—Laval, Eden and Aloisi—will formally open the conversations tomorrow. They will revolve around the tri-power treaty of 1908 by which Ethiopia was divided into spheres of economic influence and England, France and Italy pledged themselves to protect the integrity of Ethiopia.

Laval has prepared for the tri-power talks by getting all the views of Emperor Haile Selassie, of Ethiopia, whose stand as to what should be done with his country has been rarely mentioned, had a chance to present his side through Tecla Hawariat, his minister to France.

Eden and Aloisi saw Laval this afternoon shortly before Laval's second talk with Eden.

Nicholas Politis, who is expected to be officially appointed as a fifth arbitrator on the Italian dispute, also conferred with Laval.

Arguments presented to Laval by Aloisi for Italy's program included: Italy must protect its African colonies against a "wild and dangerous" nation (Ethiopia) by disarming it; Italy must expand its colonies as Great Britain and France have done; Italy is sorely in need of raw materials and must develop her own supplies.

ROME PRESS AGAIN FRIENDLY TO ENGLAND.

ROME, Aug. 15. — (AP) — An article on the Ethiopian situation in the Italian newspaper Popolo d'Italia was surprisingly friendly to England today on the eve of the tri-power conference in Paris.

It said Italy turned to Ethiopia for expansion in order not to hurt her former friends, England and France, in their colonial possessions.

Practically all of Africa is held by England and France, it was pointed out, and if Italy wanted to expand she either had to demand more territory from those countries and thus cause differences with them, or she could turn to Ethiopia. For this precise reason, it was said, Ethiopia was chosen.

The article was written by Gaetano Polverelli, former head of the government press bureau.

An official report on the air crash in Egypt August 7 with a loss of seven lives, including that of Luigi Razza, minister of public works, exploded the possibility sabotage may have been responsible.

Italy's goal of 1,000,000 men under arms will be reached by the end of September, it was announced tonight. It was disclosed a recent order recalling to the colors members of the military classes of 1911, 1913 and 1914 who have served only three months of compulsory service involves 150,000 men.

ITALIAN VICE CONSUL SAID STRUCK BY ETHIOPIAN.

LONDON, Aug. 15. — (UP) — An Ethiopian railway policeman, one of the force guarding the French rail road from Djibouti to Addis Ababa, struck Count Justini, Italian vice consul at Djibouti at the Dire Dawa station, today, the Exchange Telegraph Agency reported from Djibouti.

The policeman allegedly struck the vice consul because he was in a car window, a practice forbidden in Ethiopia. A scuffle followed a heated argument.

Justini was proceeding to Asmara, Eritrea, from Addis Ababa. He suffered head injuries.

Minions of Desert Flock to Defense of Ethiopia as Emperor Selassie Pledges Blood for Independence

The quaint streets of Addis Ababa, which for decades have echoed only the peaceful tread of commerce, today resound to the rhythm of marching soldiers such as the native warriors shown in the above photo from a Paramount new reel. The peace-loving tribesmen are shown following their mounted leader in a parade through the capital. (Associated Press.)

Emperor Haile Selassie, of Ethiopia, is shown in the above photograph reviewing a portion of the hordes of desert tribesmen who have flocked to his call to "die free rather than live to be slaves." The negus has pledged to shed his royal blood in the forefront of battle if need be, and, in an address August 12, forewarned the danger of a new World War. (Associated Press.)

Immediately preceding them was Mr. MacDonald. After gaining the President's private office Mr. Roosevelt smilingly greeted them with word that he had just given instructions to his Public Roads Bureau chief which he hoped would settle the state highway controversy in a manner satisfactory to all and open the way for spending the money without further delay.

Way Open to Peace.

Not until the letter from MacDonald to the state board is written will it be possible to list its terms officially, but practically the entire Georgia congressional delegation was confident tonight the way is now open for ending the long-standing road dispute.

Pending receipt of the MacDonald letter individual delegation members refrained from commenting, yet all professed to see no reason why the terms should not be all that Governor Talmadge could ask.

Waving aside the reference to an enlarged engineering staff, which is regarded as a matter of course, the Georgia delegation and sponsor of the controversial Ball's Ferry bridge, it is more of a concession to Governor Talmadge. Had not the President personally intervened, Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, whose department directs affairs of the Public Roads Bureau, was prepared to set up a special government agency to spend the money over the heads of the state board through direct dealing with the individual counties and municipalities.

President Roosevelt, in the light of his instructions to Mr. MacDonald today, is much opposed to such a course and obviously feels the funds should be handled by the state board. Just when the letter by Mr. MacDonald will go out is not known at

Replies Held Up.

Replies to these and all other letters touching on the Georgia highway dispute have been held up pending an opportunity for President Roosevelt to go into the situation. Plans had called for action in the controversy last week, but it was necessary to postpone things on account of the sudden death of Mrs. MacDonald, wife of the roads bureau chief.

Senator George, the only member of the delegation to openly comment, is thought to have reflected the sentiment of practically the entire group when he said:

"As I interpret the President's program and the statement he desired transmitted to the State Highway Board, I believe it undoubtedly offers the way for a reasonable and satisfactory solution of the highway problems."

James W. Thompson, who is expected to be officially appointed as a fifth arbitrator on the Italian dispute, also conferred with Laval.

Arguments presented to Laval by Aloisi for Italy's program included: Italy must protect its African colonies against a "wild and dangerous" nation (Ethiopia) by disarming it; Italy must expand its colonies as Great Britain and France have done; Italy is sorely in need of raw materials and must develop her own supplies.

ROME PRESS AGAIN FRIENDLY TO ENGLAND.

ROME, Aug. 15. — (AP) — An article on the Ethiopian situation in the Italian newspaper Popolo d'Italia was surprisingly friendly to England today on the eve of the tri-power conference in Paris.

It said Italy turned to Ethiopia for expansion in order not to hurt her former friends, England and France, in their colonial possessions.

Practically all of Africa is held by England and France, it was pointed out, and if Italy wanted to expand she either had to demand more territory from those countries and thus cause differences with them, or she could turn to Ethiopia. For this precise reason, it was said, Ethiopia was chosen.

The article was written by Gaetano Polverelli, former head of the government press bureau.

An official report on the air crash in Egypt August 7 with a loss of seven lives, including that of Luigi Razza, minister of public works, exploded the possibility sabotage may have been responsible.

Italy's goal of 1,000,000 men under arms will be reached by the end of September, it was announced tonight. It was disclosed a recent order recalling to the colors members of the military classes of 1911, 1913 and 1914 who have served only three months of compulsory service involves 150,000 men.

ITALIAN VICE CONSUL SAID STRUCK BY ETHIOPIAN.

LONDON, Aug. 15. — (UP) — An Ethiopian railway policeman, one of the force guarding the French rail road from Djibouti to Addis Ababa, struck Count Justini, Italian vice consul at Djibouti at the Dire Dawa station, today, the Exchange Telegraph Agency reported from Djibouti.

The policeman allegedly struck the vice consul because he was in a car window, a practice forbidden in Ethiopia. A scuffle followed a heated argument.

Justini was proceeding to Asmara, Eritrea, from Addis Ababa. He suffered head injuries.

After gaining the President's private office Mr. Roosevelt smilingly greeted them with word that he had just given instructions to his Public Roads Bureau chief which he hoped would settle the state highway controversy in a manner satisfactory to all and open the way for spending the money without further delay.

Way Open to Peace.

Not until the letter from MacDonald to the state board is written will it be possible to list its terms officially, but practically the entire Georgia congressional delegation was confident tonight the way is now open for ending the long-standing road dispute.

Pending receipt of the MacDonald letter individual delegation members refrained from commenting, yet all professed to see no reason why the terms should not be all that Governor Talmadge could ask.

Waving aside the reference to an enlarged engineering staff, which is regarded as a matter of course, the Georgia delegation and sponsor of the controversial Ball's Ferry bridge, it is more of a concession to Governor Talmadge. Had not the President personally intervened, Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, whose department directs affairs of the Public Roads Bureau, was prepared to set up a special government agency to spend the money over the heads of the state board through direct dealing with the individual counties and municipalities.

President Roosevelt, in the light of his instructions to Mr. MacDonald today, is much opposed to such a course and obviously feels the funds should be handled by the state board. Just when the letter by Mr. MacDonald will go out is not known at

Replies Held Up.

Replies to these and all other letters touching on the Georgia highway dispute have been held up pending an opportunity for President Roosevelt to go into the situation. Plans had called for action in the controversy last week, but it was necessary to postpone things on account of the sudden death of Mrs. MacDonald, wife of the roads bureau chief.

ROOSEVELT MEMORIAL HOSPITAL PROPOSED

Tennessee Valley Friends of President Plan Place for Crippled Children.

SHEFFIELD, Ala., Aug. 15.—(P)—A memorial hospital for crippled children, honoring President Roosevelt, is planned in the Tennessee valley by his friends.

Ralph M. Saliba, vice president and managing director of the Roosevelt Memorial Association, announced today that 400 acres of land on La Grange College Mountain, a former health resort, had been donated for the purpose by owners and interested citizens.

The hospital on the mountain, site of Alabama's first chartered college, would be erected, Saliba said, through public subscriptions from throughout the Tennessee valley and other sections of the country.

In addition to the hospital, a southern museum of history and hall of fame is planned, in which in addition to statues of figures of historic fame will be placed two miniatures of the Tennessee river valley, one in its pioneer state, the other showing its present-day development.

Guests at this great modern hotel are a hop-skip-and jump from the best that New York has to offer in entertainment or business circles.

ANTI-SEDITION BILL LAW IN ALABAMA

Graves Admits He Waited Too Long in Vetoing Measure

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 15.—(P)—The Street anti-sedition bill prohibiting the printed or uttered word advocating overthrow of the government by force or violence tonight became an Alabama law as Governor Bibb Graves admitted he had waited too long before vetoing the measure on August 2.

The measure, vigorously opposed by the press and organized labor of Alabama, was returned to the house on August 2 with a strong veto message from the Governor. The house, however, took no action on the veto after Representative Street, of Tallapoosa, author, said he was convinced the Governor had waited too long, and under Alabama's constitution the measure had become a law August 1 without the Governor's signature.

Early tonight, the Governor said the Associated Press that he was in error, declaring "I didn't check the time personally, and my clerical force misinformed me of the time I had. They told me I had until August 2 to veto the bill."

CREW RESCUED AT SEA AFTER PLANE CRASHES

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 15.—(P)—The coast guard plane 133, a new Douglas amphibian, crashed today while endeavoring to alight at sea beside the tanker E. J. Sinclair.

The coast guard air station here was advised all aboard the plane, on an emergency wick call to the tanker, were taken safely onto the vessel.

It was understood here the plane, a $30,000 job delivered recently to the coast guard, was a total loss.

It was under command of Lieutenant G. C. Bowerman, and carried a crew of two, Chief Radioman Edward Zimmerman and Chief Machinist Theodore Kozanski.

TRIANGLE IS BLAMED IN DETROIT SLAYINGS

DETROIT, Aug. 15.—(P)—Police blamed the eternal triangle today for a double slaying and suicide.

The victims were Irene Miller, 23-year-old telephone operator; Sidney Lipkin, 28, and Lipkin's 37-year-old rival for the young woman's affections, Philip R. Ritchie, a plumber.

A note written by Ritchie before the tragedy disclosed, police said, that he shot his attractive red-haired former sweetheart and a rival suitor because of jealousy. As the two lay dying in the young woman's home, Ritchie walked into an adjoining room and ended his own life.

NEW YORK HOTEL BARS DISPLAY OF SWASTIKA

German-American Group Shifts Convention, Protests to Nazi Consul.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(P)—One of the city's largest hotels has barred the German swastika, it became known tonight, as a precaution against possible riots.

The Association of German-American Technologists, a conservative national organization, announced it had cancelled plans to hold its 51st annual convention at the Hotel New Yorker because of the hotel's refusal to permit display of the German flag. The convention was scheduled instead for the Hotel Astor, from August 31 to September 2.

Holding Mayor F. H. LaGuardia indirectly responsible for the edict, Rudolf Wildermann, president of the association, said:

"When Mayor LaGuardia starts interpreting international treaties it naturally gives other people, including Ralph Hitz (president of the hotel) the idea that they can interpret the laws to suit themselves."

Expressing regret at the "complications" that had arisen from his refusal to permit display of the German flag, the hotel management said:

"This decision was made entirely without prejudice as to race or nationality, but simply as a precautionary measure to preserve the property of the hotel and insure the safety of our guests."

Terming the hotel's fear of disorders "a huge joke," Wildermann said his organization's membership included "plenty of Jews."

Wildermann said he had taken the matter up with the consul general.

RELATIVES' MARRIAGE ENDED AFTER 36 YEARS

ROANOKE, Va., Aug. 15.—(P)—The annulment of the marriage of a 75-year-old former policeman and his 60-year-old wife after 36 years of wedded life, on the grounds that she was his niece, was revealed today.

The marriage of J. Patrick Scoggins and Martha Pendergraph was annulled in Bedford county circuit court in October, 1934.

The order set forth the two were married in Graham, N. C., in January, 1898, and a short while before the petition for annulment was filed the woman learned that Scoggins, whose name on the marriage certificate was given as Robert B. Stratford, was her mother's brother.

G. O. P. ALLEGED BEHIND YOUTH DEMOCRAT BOLT

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 15.—(P)—Two sensation-cramped affidavits, alleging that bolting youth democrats of Kansas were offering political jobs, abetted by republicans, to induce more desertions, caused a political furore tonight in Kansas.

Robert Campbell, president of the young patriots of Kansas, said the promise of jobs and the office of the governor, Alf M. Landon, mentioned as a possible republican candidate for president.

Heard denials followed quickly. In the affidavits, made public by Campbell at Wichita, Kan., Charles Marshall and Dale W. Maxwell, two members of the University of Kansas young democratic organization, said they were offered good jobs if they would bolt.

MIDGET COIN MEASURE KILLED BY HOUSE BODY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(P)—With its chairman contending the supreme court would not uphold the attorney-general's contention that state coinage of subpenny sales taxes pieces was illegal, the house committee today killed the midget coin bill.

The committee voted 9 to 1 to table the legislation requested by the administration, for this session at least. "In opposing the midget coin plan," Chairman Somers said, "We took the attitude that the question involved—the minting of a coin with which to pay sales taxes—is a state matter and should be solved by the states."

His committee, he said, did not oppose the use of tokens so long as the states did not pass them as legal tender.

SENATE VOTES REPEAL OF SILVER PROFIT TAX

Open Silver Trading Approved in Effort to Wrest Market From London.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—A return to open silver trading in the United States was voted today by the senate.

Without debate, an amendment was added to the tax bill which Senator Thomas, democrat, Oklahoma, said would "bring the silver market to America."

Offered by McCarran, democrat, Nevada, the amendment would repeal those sections of the silver purchase law which authorize nationalization of silver, tax trading profits at 50 per cent and require licenses for imports and exports.

Earlier, Thomas, after conferring with Secretary Morgenthau, said the government's silver purchase program was a "farce," because the treasury was seeking to buy the white metal as cheaply as possible instead of driving the price upward.

Coincidentally, continued treasury silver purchases failed to stem the downward trend of prices.

Another senate development was a resolution introduced by Senator Pittman, democrat, Nevada, to authorize a special committee of five to confer with Morgenthau and study the effect of the silver buying program in the United States and abroad. Its approval was expected.

The treasury was reported unfavorable to the McCarran amendment, preferring to keep control of silver in this country. Some quarters forecast its rejection by the house. Open silver markets disappeared when President Roosevelt nationalized the metal a year ago.

The silver purchase law directs buying until treasury stocks reach one-third the gold supply or the price $1.20 an ounce.

Even an announcement by Secretary Morgenthau that the government was "still buying" failed to do more than retard the price slump today.

Morgenthau's statement followed last night's treasury announcement that more than 25,000,000 ounces had been purchased yesterday.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief Of Pain

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and waste out of the blood. If they don't pass 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing.

If you have trouble with frequent bladder passages with scanty amount which often smart and burn, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes and dizziness.

Don't wait for serious trouble. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS—which have been used successfully for over 40 years by millions of people. They give happy relief and will help flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get DOAN'S PILLS.

Gift of $25,000,000 in Oil Stocks To Poor by Rockefeller Reported

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—John D. Rockefeller Jr. today reported making a gift of more than $25,000,000 in oil securities less than a fortnight after President Roosevelt's "wealth tax" message.

The Securities Commission was told unnamed "individuals and charitable organizations" received 2,100,000 shares of Socony Vacuum Corporation common stock. This gift, made June 28, reduced Rockefeller's holdings in the petroleum industry.

Three major oil companies—Socony, Standard of New Jersey and Standard of California—to $180,000,000.

In this gift, bringing Rockefeller's disposal of oil holding since the first of the year to $75,000,000, Wall Street read a possible passing of a great name from active management in the petroleum industry.

The commission report gave no indication whether the famous financier made his gift at this time in expectation that congress would vote higher taxes on wealth. Contributions of this character usually take some time to plan and the program may have been arranged prior to the President's message.

The market value of the stock on June 28 was about $27,300,000. Today, because of market declines, it is worth about $25,000,000. The senate tax bill would increase the tax on such a gift if made to a single individual by an amount estimated upward of $1,250,000. The tax in June, if going to a single individual, would have exceeded $10,000,000, but would be much lower if divided, while charitable contributions are largely exempt.

Rosefeller gave $5,000 shares, now valued at about $1,000,000, of this same stock to an unidentified "educational and scientific corporation" in March. His holdings as of June 30 were 2,852,570 shares, worth about $34,200,000. In addition, other commission reports show he held 2,142,422 shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey common, valued at nearly $100,000,000, and 1,306,828 common shares of Standard Oil of California, valued at $45,700,000.

Last December, Rockefeller disposed of 600,700 shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey stock, but the commission report did not disclose whether this was sale, transfer or gift.

The June gift in Socony shares so reduced his holdings in that company that the law will not require him to continue to report changes in his ownership. Reports are required of directors, officers and holders of more than 10 per cent of a corporation's stock.

Rosefeller had been 10 per cent holder, but the June gift reduces his substantially and he is neither officer nor director in the company.

Streicher Appeals to Nazi Throng To Rid Berlin of 'Jewish Enemies'

BERLIN, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Julius Streicher, leading Jew-baiter, made his first appearance in Berlin tonight since the early days of Nazi supremacy and demanded a new drive to free the Reich capital of Jews.

While Streicher, seeking official appointment as Germany's No. 1 Jew-baiter, spoke to wildly applauding throngs in the Berlin sportsplatz, hundreds of police were busy outside seeking to prevent demonstrations and anti-Semitic violence.

Police kept crowds moving in the Kurfurstendamm—Berlin's Broadway. Jews were conspicuously absent from the streets. Streicher was in top form. His speech was ironic and derisive.

"Here in Germany every once in a while a Jew and a renegade German woman are paraded through the streets wearing a placard branding their crime of race pollution," he shouted in one of his usual outbursts.

"The people must be made conscious of this danger."

All of the Jew-baiter's attacks on his enemies were cheered enthusiastically by thousands offering to aid in the new anti-Jewish drive.

METHODISTS APPROACH AGREEMENT ON UNION

Only Two Problems Remain Before Submission to Conferences.

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Bishops and laymen representing the three principal branches of the Methodist church tonight were near agreement on a constitution by which, if adopted, their organizations would be merged into a unified church.

Meeting in suburban Evanston to adopt a program for submission to general conferences of the three divisions, the delegates had before them only two major problems they said.

One was selection of a judicial system by which a "supreme court" would check the constitutionality of any action taken by a general conference provided for in plans for the merger.

The other was subdivision of the proposed unified Methodist church into regional or jurisdictional conferences. Leaders were hopeful that both questions would be settled before the conference was ended.

Formal procedure for the holding of a general conference to replace the annual conferences of the Methodist Episcopal church (Northern), the Methodist Episcopal church, South, and the Methodist Protestant church was in event the three units approved the united organization were discussed today.

Delegates suggested that the merging plan contain a provision that the plan would become effective one year after its ratification by each of the general conferences of the three groups.

WALLACE TO REVEAL COTTON LOAN POLICY

Southern Congressmen Expect 12-Cent Figure; Wallace Confers With F. D. R.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Renewed pressure for a new 12-cent cotton loan was expected tonight at the conclusion of an 18-month fight to amend and expand the Agricultural Adjustment Act.

Secretary Wallace conferred with President Roosevelt today and indicated later an early announcement on the loan policy might be made.

The southern senators and congressmen expressed belief a 12-cent loan would be made available shortly. The department of commerce disclosed that during the 1934-35 cotton season, United States exports of raw cotton declined 36 per cent in quantity and 23 per cent in value.

Some officials, strongly opposed to any loan of the new crop, said that a large part of the loss of American cotton export markets to 10 and 12-cent loans of the past two years.

The high price of American cotton, resulting partly from the loan, and the reduced buying power of foreign countries were said to be chief reasons for declining exports. From officials insisted there is plenty of cotton available.

Total shipments for the 1934-35 season, the Commerce Department said, was 4,795,000 bales valued at $225,451,000, compared with 7,534,400 bales valued at $421,406,000 for 1933-34.

Some high officials known to be opposed to a new loan because of economic reasons, were reported to have urged an advance of less than 12 cents if a loan had to be announced at this time. It was contended a high loan resulted in impounding of the cotton surplus, and it was said that cotton under loan could not move in the free channels of trade.

Another development today was an accusation by Chairman Smith, democrat, South Carolina, of the senate agriculture committee that cotton interests under investigation by the committee to determine the cause of last spring's drop in the price of lint were attempting to check the inquiry.

The Saint Concomb, a three-masted schooner of 330 tons from St. Malo, went down Tuesday night at 67 degrees, 24 minutes north latitude and 54 degrees, 33 minutes west longitude.

'KINGFISH' IS WILLING TO RUN FOR PRESIDENT

Huey To Enter Race, He Says, If Roosevelt or Hoover Nominated.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Senator Huey P. Long, of Louisiana, announced his availability for the presidency of the United States today, first, however, corraling his declaration behind a brilliant stand of "ifs."

Long's declaration, confirming reports recently current in Washington, was made behind a barrage of colorful epithets.

The senator's announcement had for its primary and immediate purpose the stirring into action of both democratic and republican parties along liberal lines.

"I want to scare them," he asserted.

If the major parties fail to "scare" the "Will Back Liberal."

"If the republicans give the nomination to Hoover, if the democrats choose Roosevelt, and if there is no other liberal candidate, I'm perfectly willing to be an independent candidate," he said.

Interpreting his remarks with fervent "slap-dam-to-hell's," Long characterized Mr. Hoover as the President of the "twelve bedmattes of disaster," and declared that with them as candidates in 1936 the choice would be between Roosevelt and Long.

"What is, or Roosevelt that we don't know what is and hope we never find out."

Some liberal candidate could be chosen by either party," Long said.

"I would support him."

"We need," he said, bristling, "a liberating candidate to give equal distribution to everybody in this land of plenty. If the country has four years more of either Roosevelt or Hoover, there won't be anything left."

Men He Would Support.

The senator named several candidates he would be willing to support. He was particularly partial to Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, "the greatest lawyer since Daniel Webster," and Senator Charles McNary, of Oregon, "the only man in the senate."

Others Long would be willing to support were Senator Charles McNary, of Oregon, "the only man in the senate," and Senator Charles McNary, of Oregon, "the only man in the senate."

Long would not hear of the suggestion of being vice president.

"I know I wouldn't be any one's running mate," he said. "I'd prefer to be the first citizen of Louisiana rather than the second citizen of the United States."

3 OFFICIALS OF MIAMI INDICTED FOR GRAFTING

Two Former Mayors and Real Estate Dealer Released Under Bond.

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Three members of a quorum of the Miami city commission, along with a former mayor and a real estate broker, were indicted today on a charge of conspiring to defraud the city in a negro park site acquisition. They were released on $500 bonds.

It was the second indictment within two days naming Mayor A. D. H. Fossey. The diminutive real estate broker, mayor since June, was charged yesterday with participating in a scheme to obtain city property under false pretenses.

Others named in today's conspiracy true bill were Commissioner E. G. Sewell, a former mayor; Commissioner Orville Rigby, a former mayor, and Victor J. Tatham, real estate broker and tax certificate buyer.

The indictment charges Sewell, then mayor, and his fellow commissioners on April 30, 1934, Fossey, Rigby and Reeder, confederated to "cheat and defraud" the city by placing an "excessive and exorbitant" value on the property.

It is alleged they agreed Tatham should offer the city the land, and that the commissioners "then and there well knowing" the property was not then owned by Tatham, although he held tax certificates for it.

Yesterday a indictment claimed Mayor or Fossey conspired the brokers in the intricate ruse through which they exchanged allegedly worthless tax certificates for others of value.

MORE FUNDS FAVORED TO PROBE COTTON MART

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—The senate agriculture committee today approved a resolution authorizing $500,000 additional funds for investigation of the cotton market.

An appropriation of $10,000 was authorized when the price of cotton slumped two cents a pound March 9 last, and the committee was investigating the alleged "manipulation."

MOONEY WITNESS AGAIN RETRACTS

M'Donald Doesn't Recall Events of Week Following Bombing.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 15.—(AP)—John MacDonald, 63-year-old partially paralyzed man upon whom part of Tom Mooney's hopes for freedom is based, testified today he does not now recall what happened the week after the San Francisco bombing for which Mooney is serving life in prison.

Earlier, MacDonald, testifying at his hospital here before a special referee of the California supreme court, had given a detailed account of his activities during that week. He had said that during it much of his damaging testimony against Mooney at the latter's trial in 1917 had been "framed" by prosecuting officials in San Francisco.

His account of his activities during the week was given on direct examination by counsel for Mooney. It was on cross-examination that Deputy Attorney-General Cleary of California's witness retracted a statement that he did not now recall his action during the significant week.

WAY OPENED IN HOUSE FOR GUFFEY COAL BILL

Committee Approval Lifts Veil of Fear Over Constitutionality of Plan.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—(AP)—The way was smoothed today for the controversial Guffey coal stabilization bill to get its first consideration in a hall of congress.

The house rules committee dropped its fight over the custody of H. C. Hopson, utilities executive, long enough to listen to advocates and opponents of the bill and then approve a special resolution. Under it the measure will be called up tomorrow, and remain the pending business until a final vote. Eight hours of debate were allowed.

The bill would establish a national bituminous coal commission to administer a code regulating wages, hours, trade prices and prices in the soft coal industry. Those who abide by that code would be allowed a 30 per cent credit against a 15 per cent tax on the price of their coal; those who do not would have to pay the full tax.

"Go-Ahead" Signal.
The rules committee acted in the face of continuing reports from opponents of the bill—labeled "propaganda" by its backers—that the measure would be left behind in the senate when congress adjourns.

The action came after highly conflicting, formal reports on the bill were submitted to the house by its widely-divided ways and means committee.

Eleven democrats contended it was a good bill and constitutional; five democrats and six republicans, in separate reports, argued that it went beyond the constitutional power of congress.

In all, more than 20,000 words were used to argue the case. The majority democrats recalled limitations laid down by the supreme court in the NRA-Schechter case.

Bill Constitutional.
The Guffey bill declares that the mining of coal has a "direct effect" on interstate commerce. Since "federal regulation is necessary for the protection of the public and to foster interstate commerce in bituminous coal," the 11 democrats argued, the bill is constitutional.

The five democrats, led by representative Cooper of Tennessee, declared, "the bill is in direct conflict with the decision of the supreme court in the Schechter case, and will be held unconstitutional."

Representative Lewis, democrat, Maryland, in a separate report, agreed with the democratic majority, describing the constitution as a "state-mandated document . . . not a private courthouse of the amenable to litigation or lawyer rules of construction."

The republicans, in their report, contended the measure showed clearly that "President Roosevelt sought to force changes in the constitution. In some 'supplemental views.' Representative Knutson, republican, Minnesota, added that the bill "does not protect the consumer" and will increase the cost of coal.

Following my nomination last year, and since taking office on January 1, I gave serious study and careful consideration to each individual act of mine, with the idea of promoting a better and more efficient county government and one of the most serious to which I have ever submitted.

"There is one erroneous impression which I earnestly desire of removing from your mind. Not in all of my political experience have I been more misunderstood nor my position more thoroughly distorted. The newspapers in glaring headlines indicated, as a matter of fact stated, both in news stories and in editorials that I made the assertion that the July-August term of the grand jury was a political grand jury and adopted the resolution of the committee for political purposes.

Blames George Longino.
"Nothing was, nor is, further from my belief or conviction. What I did say, and what I here and now repeat, and what I am firmly convinced of, is that George Longino inspired this matter as a spectacular beginning for his political campaign in 1936. There was never the slightest disagreement between Longino and myself until he approached me and asked me for my political support in 1936. I told him very frankly, that whereas I had supported him vigorously in two of his previous campaigns, my experience with his methods and with his motives had convinced me that I could no longer support his political aspirations.

"For your information, there is no chance for harmony as between Longino and anyone else unless every 'I' is crossed and every 'Y' dotted strictly in accordance with his wishes. Certainly, and well-informed, men have in the past rendered honest and conscientious service to Fulton county, told me that they declined to stand for re-election as county commissioners because of the utter inability to serve in harmony and co-operation with Longino.

"I am not asserting before a previous grand jury that I had resorted to political wiles and trickery to supersede him on the Welfare Board when that body was reorganized last April. The facts are that my name was substituted for his upon the earnest request of the other members of the Welfare Board and against my wishes because to quote an exact language of some of those patriotic men who are giving so generously and freely of their time to the relief of the county's financial straits: 'There is no living with that fellow Longino, unless he can run everything to suit himself.' As a result of these writings, I accepted and have and have worked in peace and harmony with the other members of the Welfare Board.

Wishes Past Record.
"In addition to these facts, I take a great deal of pride, although I am not the least bit egotistical, in referring to my past record as a county commissioner when I served with men as Judge Virlyn B. Moore, former Mayor L. N. Ragdale, the Hon. Charles G. Turner, Captain George M. Hope, both now deceased; the Hon. Paul S. Etheridge, Walter B. Stewart and Dr. W. L. Gilbert. Each and everyone of these men will bear testimony to the fact that our every effort was devoted mutually and co-operatively to the welfare and upbuilding of Fulton county.

The main idea I want to get over to you, George, is that I have and always have had the deepest respect for all grand jury investigations and presentments, whether I was in full agreement with them or not. I have never lobbied with, nor approached, nor sought to influence any member of any grand jury at any time, except when summoned before me and grand jury in open meeting and said what I had to say in the presence of all of those interested.

"You have my full permission to read this letter in whole or in part together with copy of the letter which I am sending to Dr. Adams, at the meeting of the grand jury on next Monday. I would have written sooner, except for the fact that this is the first day my physical strength would permit. I shall carry on in the future as in the past in an earnest desire to render good service and carry forward the constructive developments of Fulton county.

"With cordial regards to you and other members of the grand jury, I am,

"Sincerely yours,"
"EDWIN F. JOHNSON,"
Chairman,
"Board of county commissioners,"
"The courthouse, Atlanta, Georgia."

Following is the first letter sent Dr. Adams by Mr. Johnson:

"Sea Island Beach, Georgia, August 14, 1935.
"Dr. Charles R. Adams, chairman,
"Board of county commissioners,"
"The courthouse, Atlanta, Georgia."

"Dear Dr. Adams:
"As you well know, it was my earnest desire and firm determination to attend the special meeting of the board of county commissioners held on Monday, August 19, for the consideration of the July-August term grand jury presentments. It was with this idea in mind that I requested and was granted leave from my position as chairman of the board before I left Atlanta to postpone consideration of the presentments until I could attend.

"It is a matter of extreme regret to me to tell you that it would be practically suicidal for me to attend the meeting on next Monday. I still have a four-inch opening in a nine-inch incision, as the result of an emergency operation for strangulated hernia. You, as a physician, as well as a humanitarian, will know the extreme physical weakness with which I am now suffering.

"In addition to the above, I must say to you and other members of the board and to the grand jury itself, in all frankness, that I cannot bring myself to believe that immediate action on the matters at issue is essential to the welfare of Fulton county.

"Efficiency, Economy Desired. — The county government are desired by us just as much as by any individual citizen or the members of the grand jury. Your presentments could not be made unless they were made with a great deal of investigation and the accumulation of much information. This information should be given to us by you. If this information prompted you to make the recommendations you did, then we are entitled to the benefit of this information in order that we may exercise our best judgment in the performance of those duties which rest upon us under the law. We will examine this information with an open mind and with the sole desire of accomplishing the most for the welfare of the county.

"In a conscientious effort to benefit the welfare of the county, the entire record before you should be made public. We want and we need the information prompting your decisions should be given to us, who, by law, are vested with the duty of making these decisions. We do not consider that simply because you state that you disagree with some action of ours that we should, for that reason only, resign our previous acts. We want to go into the matter thoroughly and to co-operate with your body in a friendly and harmonious way, with all working toward one end.

"In order to accomplish any permanent good to the county; in order to determine whether we can agree with your recommendations, we will have to have the record which prompted you to make these recommendations. Upon receipt of it, we will carefully examine every bit of evidence and will weigh all information in the record. When this is done we will be in position to conscientiously and fairly give your recommendations their proper consideration.

"Yours very truly,"
"C. R. ADAMS,"
Chairman.

Letter From Physician.
The following is the letter to Dr. Adams from Dr. Julian G. Riley, Mr. Johnson's physician:

"August 15, 1935.
"Dr. Charles R. Adams, chairman,
"315 Courthouse,
"Atlanta, Ga."

"Dear Dr. Adams:
"In reply to your letter of August 14, 1935, regarding the present physical condition of Mr. Edwin F. Johnson, I wish to advise you as follows:

"On July 25, 1935, it was necessary to perform an emergency operation on Mr. Johnson for a strangulated incisional hernia.

"Several years ago Mr. Johnson had an emergency operation for an attack of acute appendicitis. It was necessary for the wound to be drained at that time. Subsequently an abscess developed in the abdominal wall which required incision and drainage. This left a major defect in the abdominal wall which resulted in a large incisional hernia.

"About 5 o'clock on the morning of July 25, 1935, this hernia became strangulated and an immediate operation was resorted to in order to repair the hernia and to repair the hernia. Mr. Johnson stood the operation very well for a man of his age. His convalescence to date has been satisfactory. However, because of his age, his general physical condition, and the technical difficulties encountered in the operation, I do feel that it will interfere with his progress and delay his chances for a complete recovery if, for any reason, he resumes his activities before the first of September.

"His abdominal wound has not healed completely yet. It is necessary to have it dressed periodically, and any undue strain, like standing or walking, might result in a failure. It is customary after such an operation for the patient to remain in bed for a period of one month. He remains at Sea Island Beach until the first of September and continues his convalescence, as I have outlined to you, and if there are no complications, his chances for a complete recovery are excellent. After September 1, if there have been no complications, he should be able to resume his duties.

"Trusting that this information will be of value to you, I am,

"Yours very truly,"

VAGRANTS FILL JAILS, MANY FAINT IN HEAT

Judge's Anger Roused by Treatment of Prisoners Seized in New York Drive.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP)—The city's jails, courts and police stations were taxed to capacity today by last night's haul of 450 vagrants who were rounded up in a campaign against footpads.

Jammed like sardines in two small cells, 240 of the prisoners awaited trial at court hearings at the end of the day and were transferred from Yorkville court to West Side jail for the night.

Several of them fainted in the sweltering detention cells, which were built to hold 50 prisoners, and the congestion aroused the ire of Magistrate Jonah J. Goldstein.

Observing that no provision had been made for feeding the prisoners, Magistrate Goldstein said:

"If a poultry dealer or a cattle raiser were to jam livestock into crates or cars like these men have been packed away today, the offenders would be brought into court by an indignant public and severely sentenced."

A roundup, ordered as a result of a series of assaults, robberies and killings in the public parks, netted 32 men in criminal records.

Of the 392 persons arrested in Manhattan, 232 were charged with disorderly conduct, 154 with vagrancy, and nine with assault and robbery.

Jail terms of from one to ten days were meted out in a number of the cases disposed of during the day, but many prisoners were discharged.

NEWMAN COURT BILL IS PASSED BY HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—The house today passed a bill sponsored by Representative Emmett Owen, of Griffin, which provides for another division of the United States district court at Newman in the northern district of Georgia.

If enacted the bill will create a fourth division in the northern district of Georgia, the new being located at Atlanta, Gainesville and Rome.

Representative Owen is the first member of congress to have such a bill passed in recent years. Hitherto the attorney-general has not looked with favor upon court districts but being convinced that a real emergency had occurred he readily approved the Owen measure.

Announces Store Opening

NEW ROGERS STORE FOR BROAD STREET

Large Food Establishment Opens Saturday in Block With Rich's.

W. C. Moseley, general superintendent and sales manager of the Rogers' Stores, announces the opening of a large, new, modern Rogers' store tomorrow at 75-77 Broad street, corner Hunter street, located in the same block as Rich's department store.

"The space occupied by this new store is one of the largest Rogers' stores ever opened. All of the interior, shelving and fixtures throughout the store are carried out in the color scheme of green and natural finish wood which was adopted by Rogers' Stores some time ago. An exceptionally large meat department has been installed in this store, all mechanically refrigerated. There is also an extra large fruit and vegetable department where an exceptionally large stock and variety of all kinds of green vegetables and fresh fruits will be carried at all times. The grocery department is unusually roomy and the customers of this new store will find this an added feature in food shopping because they can have plenty of room in which to mull around and inspect the many popular foods the Rogers' Stores carry," stated Mr. Moseley.

Mr. Moseley brought out the fact that this store will be very convenient to riders of the East Point, College Park, Hapeville, Stewart Avenue, Lakewood, Grant's Park street cars, and to several of the other street cars and buses that come in front of the store. The store is also convenient to Rich's garage and ample other parking facilities are very close. In addition to being convenient to Rich's it is also convenient to numbers of other specialty shops on Broad and Whitehall streets and to the new postoffice. Saturday is the official opening day of the new store.

"There must be fish in those streams up there, for we have heard that other people catch them. But our entire catch was three small ones.

"Then there was the meal of frog legs whenever there was nothing else. One lake was just crawling with little frogs.

"We caught a few, killed them with our hunting knives, and tried to roast them over a fire. Most of them fell into the coals and we couldn't tell whether we were eating frogs or ashes.

"The little jaunt we took down to old Orchard house was a picnic. We ate clams and fished in the salt water. If you're going to be Tarzans, be sure to do it on the beach—it's easier than in the woods and we couldn't tell whether we were eating frogs or ashes.

"We hit off into the woods again without trying to explain.

"A ranger met us up at Marmot lake Tuesday evening. He said every man in the service had been told to bring us in. He suggested that we come in ourselves and save him the trip."

MRS. FALL OPENS FIGHT TO SAVE RANCH HOME

She and Husband To Resist Eviction Demand of Doheny Company.

EL PASO, Texas, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Mrs. Albert R. Fall, grieving wife of the former secretary of the interior, strode militantly today into Tres Ritos ranch eviction proceedings instituted through a company headed by their old friend E. L. Doheny.

"I'll hire the best lawyer in New Mexico to save our home," she said, supplementing a declaration of defiance from Fall, who is ill at the ranch. "I'm going to file a suit myself and I'm not going to wait for somebody to move us out."

At Los Angeles, R. M. Sands, vice president of the Doheny-controlled petroleum securities company, said Doheny was "thoroughly conversant" with an order to Fall to vacate the 750,000-acre ranch at Tres Ritos, N. M., by today.

"If Mr. Fall insists on remaining," Sands said, "we are prepared to take the matter into the courts."

Sands said the friendship of Fall and Doheny, once fellow prospectors, "has not been changed." He declared sale of the property under foreclosure as "being handled entirely by myself as a business matter of the company."

Mrs. Fall referred briefly to the conviction of Fall on a charge of accepting a bribe from Doheny in the naval oil reserve case, for which he was sentenced to a year in prison and $100,000 fine.

"Mr. Fall has two more things he wants to get done—to regain his citizenship rights, of which he was wrongfully deprived, and to save the Tres Ritos home for his family.

"He has been too ill to do either," Mrs. Fall disclosed that she has been the family's sole support since the Fall fortunes turned downward. She is operating a Spanish cafe in El Paso and a mercantile business at Tres Ritos.

MAJOR JOHN A. FYNN, FERA OFFICIAL, DIES

State Transient Director Was Formerly Prominent in Salvation Army Work.

Major John Arthur Fynn, state director of the transient division of the FERA and former Salvation Army leader, died yesterday morning in a private hospital. He was 43 years of age and resided at 608 Highland avenue, N. E. He had been associated with the FERA for two years.

Major Fynn was born in Kansas, in Atlanta and throughout the central and southern states. His work with the Salvation Army had been extensive and he had followed his father into the service.

Major Fynn served in Chicago as handmaster of the Chicago staff band for six years, until about nine years ago. He then went to Kansas City under Colonel Albert Norris, present chief secretary in Atlanta, serving as general secretary for Salvation Army work in Kansas. He later was transferred to New Orleans, where he served as divisional commander of the Gulf division.

In 1931, Major Fynn came to Atlanta to serve again under Colonel Norris, this time as field secretary of the southern territory comprising 15 southern states. Major Fynn was third in command of this large section, being under Commissioner Ernest Pugmire and Colonel Norris. At the time of his appointment here he was one of the most capable and energetic ever to hold such a responsible post with the army.

Major Fynn was noted for his love of music and his musical ability and for his interest in social service work. He is survived by his wife; a son, John Arthur Fynn Jr.; two daughters, Mary Elizabeth and Lillian Grace Fynn; his mother, Mrs. John Thomas Fynn, of Chicago; a brother, Alfred Fynn, of Chicago, and three sisters, Mrs. Herman Behrendt, of Chicago; Mrs. Arthur Cass, of Waterloo, Iowa, and Mrs. Harold Stout, of Morgantown, W. Va.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Peachtree chapel of Brandon-Bond-Condor with the Salvation Army in charge and Commissioner Pugmire officiating. The body then will be taken to Chicago for services and burial there.

P.O. WORKERS GET FORTY-HOUR WEEK

Signing of Bill Makes Possible Creation of Thousands of Jobs.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. (P)—President Roosevelt today signed the bill providing a 40-hour week for postal employees.

Officials expect it to create about 10,000 permanent jobs for men now on the postal "substitute" list.

Regular postal employees have been working 44 hours a week, with time off for all overtime. Most clerks and carriers work five days a week and a half day on Saturday, but any man who worked more than 44 hours in any week was given added time off later.

Indications that the southeast would present a united front in its demand for lower interstate freight rates was given yesterday when the Tennessee Railroad and Utility Commission and the Birmingham Traffic Association accepted an invitation to participate in the Georgia Public Service Commission's rate parley here September 3.

Chairman Jud P. Wilhoit, of the Georgia commission, in announcing the acceptance, said he had received letters from both organizations asserting they would be glad to join in a demand for lowered rates.

It was the Birmingham group which intervened to get the Interstate Commerce Commission to cancel the interstate rates fixed by the Georgia commission.

Rates Too High. "All of the southeast feels it is suffering from too high rates," Chairman Wilhoit said. "We believe our conference next month will result in united action and eventually we will get the rates down where they should be."

Announcement of the Tennessee commission's acceptance came in a letter from Commissioner Porter Dunlap, who said the full board would attend the session.

Governor Talmadge yesterday lauded the purpose of the meeting, declaring the railroad freight rates in the south should be reduced 50 per cent.

Talmadge Approves. "Wilhoit is absolutely correct in his position that the south has been discriminated against too long," Talmadge stated.

"He is trying to help the shippers and, in the long run, to help the railroads," he said.

"The railroads are the craziest crowd in the world, anyhow. We have already shown that reduced passenger fares increase their business."

Talmadge said lower freight rates would bring about an increase in tonnage.

Containing war-time freight rates were maintained when values of products dropped 75 per cent, the Governor said transportation and bond issues "brought about this depression."

GUARDSMAN IS FREED IN SLAYING OF WOMAN

NEVADA, Mo., Aug. 15. (P)—A military court today acquitted Private Ray Bixler, Missouri National Guardsman, of manslaughter charges in connection with the fatal shooting of Miss Harriet Hasty, 40, of Paragould, Ark.

Miss Hasty was shot and fatally wounded last March 21 when Bixler, on flood patrol duty along the St. Francis river, attempted to halt her motor car at a bridge approach.

Bixler was one of the guards stationed at the bridge to warn motorists against driving too fast. He was serving as the far guard and was to fire a signal shot to warn the other guard in case a motorist failed to halt.

He testified the shooting was accidental.

FIVE NAMED TO STUDY AIR BASE LOCATIONS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. (P)—The war department today appointed a special committee of five officers to recommend location for air bases authorized in the Wilcox bill, recently signed by President Roosevelt.

Colonel John D. Reardon, air corps, will act as chairman. Other members are Lieutenant Colonel Joseph T. McNarney, air corps, and Lieutenant Colonel John P. Smith and J. B. Brooks, and Major W. P. Tompkins, all of the general staff.

The bill calls for large bases in six "strategic" areas: Alaska, the Pacific coast, the Rocky mountain region, the southeast, south Atlantic seaboard and New England.

Sally Forth Tours Europe Today With Trio of Atlanta Belles

By Sally Forth.

SALLY is touring Europe this summer by proxy. Today her traveling mates are a trio of charming Atlanta belles, Anne Brantley, Jean Howell and Jean Ray, who are enjoying a trip as a present from their parents, in recognition of their recent graduation from the North Avenue Presbyterian school.

Landing at Southampton upon disembarking from the Berengia, the party went to London. Anne Brantley was greatly excited over the thrill she received when she first sighted land, namely, the Isle of Wight off the English coast. After a two-hour train ride to London, the party had a midnight supper before going to their separate rooms which are reserved for all American girls at the hotel.

The mummies were highlights at the visit to the British Museum, which was followed by a visit to Westminster Abbey and into the historic chapel. In Chinatown they went to the famous Charlie Brown place, which is filled with rare antiques, fastening their attention upon a clock with no works. It runs by water and, to the amazement of the girls, it keeps time.

Another big thrill came with the changing of the guards at Buckingham Palace. They glimpsed Windsor Castle from the outside, as it was impossible to enter. Queen Mary departed three days prior to the arrival of the American girls, and visitors are not allowed to enter the famous place until a week following the departure of the royal family.

A tour of the Shakespearean country was one of the highlights of the trip. Anne sat in the chair Shakespeare used to write his famous works, as she confides, it was an inspiring moment. A trip to Oxford supplied a collegiate thrill and the girls were awed as they gazed at the famous wax figures of President Roosevelt, Herbert Hoover, General Pershing and Atlanta's own Bobby Jones and many more.

Boarding the yacht Venus, Sally crosses the North sea with the girls to Bergen, thence to Camp Risor in Norway, where the Atlantans enrolled for several weeks. At first, it was hard to understand the campers, as they represented every country in the world. Jean Ray says the only phrases understood were "no," "yes," "ice cream" and "when do we eat?" The water was so cold Jean Howell found difficulty in swimming, but it did not phase the Norwegians as they took their daily plunge.

Anne and the two Jeans saw a Norwegian peasant wedding party on Norway, the capital of Norway, and had the pleasure of visiting the sweetest place there—the candy factory which supplies confections for all the royal houses of Europe. From Oslo to Gothenburg in Sweden, then to Denmark, Brussels, Berlin, and Paris. Kaiser Wilhelm's palace in the German capital intrigued their fancy. This week they can be paged in Paris. Under the guidance of Madame de la Brousse Barthelemy, they will visit as many interesting places as time permits.

Sailing from Cherbourg on August 21, they will land in New York on August 27. Despite the historic and cultural contact in the Old World, the trio plan to stay a few days in New York to dance to the romantic music of Guy Lombardo and his orchestra. The true American spirit, Sally thinks, and she will be with them in spirit.

ATLANTANS will be greatly surprised the latter part of this month, as was a certain at-

MRS. HARRY PEARCE LEADINGHAM.

Mr. and Mrs. George Winship announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Emily Winship to Harry P. Leadingham, of America, formerly of Atlanta, the ceremony having taken place Thursday at noon at the home of the bride's parents on Peachtree way.

Mr. and Mrs. Leadingham performed the ceremony in the living room in the presence of immediate families of the bride and groom, who stood before an improvised altar of stately palms and ferns, beautified with baskets holding gladioli and lilies.

The beautiful bride was given in marriage by her father, George Winship.

Her beauty was enhanced by her smart ensemble of green wool coat being trimmed in Kolinsky fur. She wore a white crepe blouse and brown accessories, and rubrum blouses composed her bouquet. The groom and his best man, George Winship Jr., met the bride and her father at the altar. When Your Skin Needs More Than Usual Care

Some women have naturally beautiful skin, but the majority need cosmetics to improve the texture and tone of their complexion. Perhaps your skin needs more than the usual care! It may be that your skin is coarse, red, scaly, wrinkled or greasy. If it is, Cu-Crema, the all-in-one complexion treatment, is just the thing for you to use. Cu-Crema enhances the beauty of a lovely skin, but it is far more effective than that.

The worse the complexion, the more it needs Cu-Crema because Cu-Crema immediately removes "shine" and makes your skin soft, smooth and beautiful, so smart looking without that "powdered" look. White Cu-Crema gives quick results, its continued use actually improves the condition of the skin and brings it to a natural loveliness. In white, flesh and brunette colors. 50c at all drug and department stores. Try Cu-Crema today. Cu-Crema Company, Dept. 5-C, Lynchburg, Va.—(adv.)

Friendly Counsel

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence must be in plain English, held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

If you want to get a good line on life there is no better way to do it than to eavesdrop on a group of children discussing confidential conversation informally about the grown-ups and their relationship to the children. Deep truths come out in childish garb. Fine philosophies are expressed in simple English. Child psychology is not a mystery. The child's mind is a window into the adult mind. The child's mind is a window into the adult mind. The child's mind is a window into the adult mind.

"Does your father ever punish you?"

"Not often, but when he takes two or three drinks he is awful mean and cross. When he gets drunk he goes to sleep. Mama says when she sees him take a drink she always tries to get him to take a lot of them because she had rather see him asleep in bed than drunk. She sort of wishes she could go with us but Papa's wife doesn't want her."

"Did he punish you when he lived with you?"

"No, he never did. He was good to us. We cried and begged Mama not to get a divorce but she said that she didn't want us to grow up in a house with a bad man like Papa. We didn't think he was bad."

"Father punishes me all right. He spanks me and puts me to bed without any supper. Sometimes I lie there and think how nice it would be if I could die. I would like to die and in find me dead. Then I bet he'd be sorry he had been mean to me. I am scared of him too." Loud laughter at the other fellow's misfortune followed, the unfortunate one laughing louder than the rest.

"Mama does the punishing at our house and my father tries to keep her from being hard on us. He is always saying to her: 'Remember they are children and the father should be a father. Then she gets after him and he walks off looking sad. She uses the comb or the brush or anything she can get her hands on. She tries to keep switches in the umbrella stand but she doesn't any more."

"If my mother whipped me I would run away. She never has touched me. One time she said she was going to send me to my room to stay and I packed my suitcase so I could run away."

"Where were you going?"

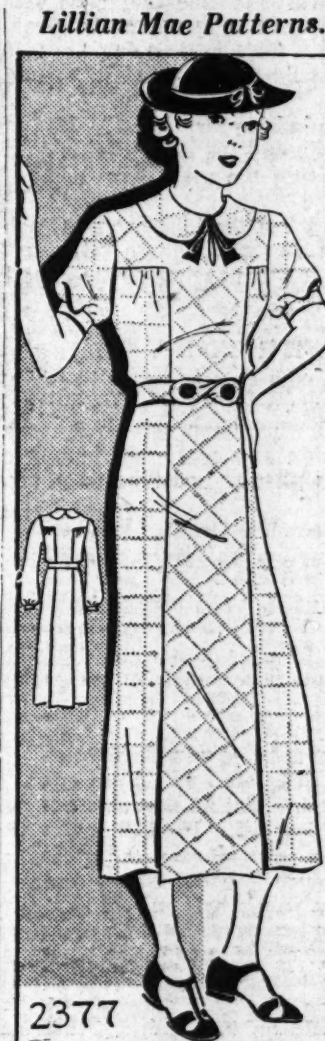

"I don't know but I was not going to stay there. (More laughter at the bravery of this boy.)

"I have been punished by my father and mother but I was bad and deserved it. Only one time I remember my father punishing me for something I hadn't done. They said I told a story, but honest I hadn't. They wouldn't let me go to a movie for two weeks and I hated them both all that time. Now they know I was telling the truth but they wouldn't believe me then. I never was so miserable. I would forget it for a little while and then I would remember it again."

At this point somebody suggested a treasure hunt and the game of confession was over. They had covered wide territory. Marriage, divorce, parenthood, child training, child discipline, drink addiction and the child's reaction to each of the problems. Grown-ups draw your own conclusions. CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

FEATHER IN HER HAT

By Julie Anne Moore

WHAT HAD GONE BEFORE. Ann Rogers and Rita Manley, back in Elaville from college, set civil service jobs in Washington where they met by Bill Hudson, correspondent for a New York paper, whom Rita knew. He stops at the Globe office to pick up Mollie Winslow, writer of a syndicated column, with whom the girls are to stay temporarily. Just before Bill calls a mysterious voice phone Mollie that Fuhrman Wells, Senator Runbrecker's secretary, is lying murdered in the reflecting pool at the Lincoln Memorial but when she hangs up Wells is standing at the door of her office. She tells him nothing but asks him to her apartment that evening. When Mollie's party reaches her home they find there Runbrecker's daughter, Selma, and Carl Palmer, a Department of Justice agent. Wells has not shown up at midnight when they are leaving for the airport for the arrival of Lee Monday, Bill's friend, who is making a blind flight from Los Angeles, and Mollie is telling of the phone message when Wells enters. He asks, "Could you swear that voice did not belong to someone now in this room?" As he leaves a wall comes from Selma. She asks her father to discharge Wells. During a playful scuffle Ann talks, Bill lifts her to a couch and seems about to kiss her, then abruptly says goodnight. Monday comes, expecting to see Bill. Lee, tired from his flight, Ann from her long day, fall asleep sitting on the lawn.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT IX.

Immediately after dinner, Lee spoke to Bill and Carl and they walked down the hall and shut themselves in the library. Selma was itching with curiosity as she watched them go, but at the moment had an announcement to make. An orchestra had just arrived, she said, and there would be dancing in a few minutes. She suggested that while they are waiting for the big dining room to be cleared they go out on the lawn.

Selma's invitation had said nothing about dancing, but this was but one of her little surprises. No sooner had her guests strolled out onto the lawn than three arc lights suddenly came on and focused on a small portable stage under the trees, and a moment later three bare-legged girls in silk shorts and men's high silk hats emerged from the darkness and proceeded to prove themselves extraordinarily good tap dancers.

Ann did not join the other guests when they settled on the grass about the stage, but moved off into the shadows beyond. She stood with her back to a tree and thought what a sacrifice it was to disturb the quiet of this lovely place with a show that had been drawn, obviously, from the city's night clubs.

Presently, while a tall blonde young woman with a man's voice sang "Love's a Little Lie"—Lee Monday came up, cautiously, and struck a match.

"Well, how's the little woodland sprite?" he asked, laughing. The match flickered out. "Isn't this terrible?"

"It isn't appropriate to the setting," Ann said. "How did you like the ovation?" She hadn't meant to be ugly, but the question slipped out.

Lee Monday said soberly, "I know what you mean. Money's all right, if it's used with good sense. But it's a terrible waste of money to get a handsome writer, who you know me better, I'd like to have your opinion."

Ann's even teeth flashed in the semi-darkness. "We're being terribly serious," she said. "Can't we talk about something more interesting?"

"Yes," he said. "We could. For example, I could tell you how sorry I am about last night—and how grateful."

"And I," said Ann, "could thank you for the orchids. They're the first I ever saw on my side of a plate glass window."

"And I have something else to tell you. Between seven and eight tonight I had a telephone call. Whether from a man or a woman I can't say. It was the most peculiar voice I ever heard. But the substance of a very brief statement was that Senator Runbrecker had just fallen from the top of the Washington monument. . . ."

Ann was so startled that she actually jumped.

"Which explains why I was late," Lee continued. "I had half the police department searching the monument and I'm still here for two hours. . . . Now I understand I was the victim of a practical joker. Bill tells me my call was the third in a gruesome hoax."

The night was unusually warm for September, but Ann felt suddenly chilled. "Do you mind if we go in?" she asked as casually as she could.

"They were just approaching the steps when Bill came out on the porch, obviously excited."

"Lee. . . . He came down the steps. . . . Don't run away, Ann. They've just pulled Fuhrman Wells' body out of the reflecting pool. . . ."

When Ann grinned, he added, earnestly, "No, no. This isn't a fake. The police went the senator to come down and identify the body. Carl's talking to headquarters now. . . . Fuhrman was strangled—with a strand of copper wire. . . ."

Never, never, so long as she lived, would Ann forget the horrors of that night, her second in Washington.

Now, however, there was an opportunity for reflection for Carl had come out on the porch and he and Bill stood a little way off and conversed in low tones. A few men more Lee Monday put a hand on Ann's

The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Farley, Ph.D.

THERE IS NO SUCH THING AS A DIVINING ROD THAT WILL LOCATE WATER BELOW GROUND

It is widely believed that certain persons (called "dowsers") can locate water underground by carrying a forked stick of peach, cherry, apple or other wood in their hands. They claim that the stick suddenly turns in their hands when they walk over a vein of water. Scientific experiments have been made and it has been found that these "dowsers" passed right over water veins many times. In the Sahara Desert, the divining rod has failed to locate water, and in Germany a society was organized to study the divining rod, and found it to be a practical joke. Carl's talking to headquarters now. . . . Fuhrman was strangled—with a strand of copper wire. . . ."

Never, never, so long as she lived, would Ann forget the horrors of that night, her second in Washington.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

IN AFRICA WITH LIVINGSTONE

X—The Last Trail.

We may feel sure that Livingstone would have enjoyed going back to Great Britain, in company with Stanley. His wife had died years before, but he had children and other relatives whom he would have been happy to see. There would have been another warm welcome from the British public, but as it was, he remained in Africa—and died there.

In bidding good-by to Stanley, Livingstone said: "I will say this to you, you have done what few men could do; far better than some great travelers I know. I am grateful to you for what you have done for me."

After going some distance on his way, Stanley looked around and waved

One day Livingstone was attacked by a snake seven feet long, but he killed it while it was rearing to strike him.

At another time, he suffered a furious attack from red driver ants.

"Our cook died at their first onset," Livingstone wrote. "I lighted a candle, and remembering Dr. Van der Kamp's idea that no animal will touch a candle unless it is provoked, and if it is the person rather than the stick, then it is psychic, and so why use the stick?"

The natives who were with Livingstone cared for him tenderly when his illness grew worse. Part of the time they carried him in their arms, and his sorrow was great. They remembered his kindness and care for them. After burying his heart beneath a tree, they bore the body to the port at Zanzibar.

Westminster Abbey, which is the burial place of many British monarchs, contains the remains of David Livingstone—except for the heart, which still rests under the soil of the continent to which he gave so many years.

his handkerchief in farewell. Livingstone, in reply, lifted his cap: it was the last time he was to see a man from the western world.

We know of the closing year of Livingstone's life from the diary in which he wrote after Stanley left. The months were filled with hard work, sickness and adventure.

INDICTMENT DRAWN
IN CITY HALL FIGHT*Bill Charges W. Evans Chambers With Assault With Intent to Murder.

An indictment charging W. Evans Chambers, former city efficiency expert, with assault with intent to murder, will be brought before the July-

August grand jury this morning.

The bill developed out of a fight several weeks ago between Chambers, who is now employed in the city marshal's office, and J. D. Crenshaw, also employed by the marshal. Chambers and Crenshaw were said to have quarreled over money collected in the course of their business for the city, and it was alleged that Chambers drew a pistol and snapped it at Crenshaw.

Indictment against Robert H. Robertson, charging assault with intent to kill, also will be sought by the solicitor-general. Robertson was said to have beaten H. B. Sewell, his former employer, with a blunt instrument on August 7.

The bills were drawn yesterday by Charlie Stewart, of the solicitor's office, and will be presented before the grand jury this morning at its regular session by Solicitor-General John A. Boykin.

Judge Fortson, Graham Wright
To Discuss New Deal Tomorrow

Renewal of the public discussion of the New Deal by Judge Blanton Fortson and Graham Wright will be held under the auspices of the Georgia League of Women Voters at a dinner on the Ansley roof tomorrow night, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

The two noted speakers will jointly discuss "Industry and Agriculture Under the Recovery Program." In the discussion Judge Fortson not only takes issue with Wright, but with a noted ancestor, General Robert Toombs, his grand-uncle, whose uncompromising advocacy of state's rights helped take Georgia out of the Union 75 years ago.

The judge, a staunch defender of federal control, believes that the doctrine is sometimes used as a device "usually advanced when the economic or social argument is difficult to maintain."

The discussion is held to inform the people of the state, officials of the league said, on the principles upon which the recovery program is based.

The plan was commenced yesterday by Judge E. Marvin Underwood as "a plan for the free, non-partisan discussion of present-day social, political and economic problems. I know of no greater needs," he said, "than the intelligent presentation by able, unselfish and courageous men and women of all sides of the baffling questions that confront us today."

OFFICER SPLITS REWARD WITH MOTHER OF VICTIM

DETROIT, Aug. 15.—(P)—Thomas J. Harris, New York patrolman, who received $5,000 in rewards for capturing Martin Ward Goodrich, gave $1,000 of the money today to Mrs. Frank Gallaher, mother of the 11-year-old girl Goodrich attacked and murdered last September 20.

"It's an expression of the feeling of the police," said Harris.
